NEED FOR SERVICES

Many people at some point in their lives will be touched by mental illness and/or addiction. Addiction commonly occurs along with mental illness. Often it interferes with treatment and worsens mental illness.

Mental illness and addiction can be uncomfortable topics, but keeping conversations about these issues behind closed doors is doing much more harm than good.

Research shows that early diagnosis improves patient's rate of recovery so it is important to seek help when symptoms start. Working together, you and your provider can decide which treatment options may be best for you, depending on your symptoms and their severity, your personal preferences, side effects and other factors.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Talbert House offers accessible and affordable assessment and counseling to adults and youth, so they can regain control of their lives.

The program also provides services for those who have been dually diagnosed with addiction and mental illness.

PROGRAM GOALS:

1. Provide a therapeutically safe environment to assist clients and their families in making an honest appraisal of their problems and to offer guidance for resolution of problems associated with their drug or alcohol usage.
2. Provide knowledge about the disease of addiction and mental illness.
3. Assist clients in developing an individualized treatment plan that addresses their needs and employs their strengths and resources.
4. Teach clients positive social interactive skills through counseling and other structured activities.

OUTPATIENT SERVICES

Warren & Clinton Outpatient Services uses the latest research to help a person understand his or her disorder.

All clients receive an assessment to determine what level of care is appropriate. An individualized service plan is developed based on the client's specific needs, with the client having input into the treatment goals.

Talbert House provides an integrated system of mental health and addiction services focused on best practices, easy access and customer service.
